Example No. 1

The diagram below shows a residence with 3 off-street parking spaces that can accommodate 3 cars.

In accordance with Council's Permit Parking Policy if 3 cars are registered to this property the resident is entitled to 1 Resident Parking Permit.

How is this calculated:

A maximum of 3 resident parking permits may be issued per residence reduced by 1 for every off-street parking space available at the residence. In this case, however, whilst 3 off-street parking spaces are available, Council's allowance for stacked driveway parking only counts 2 of these spaces. The maximum of 3 permits is therefore reduced by 2 off-street parking spaces.

Note: The resident is also be entitled to 1 Visitors Parking Permit

Example No. 2

The diagrams below show residences with 2 off-street parking spaces that can accommodate 2 cars.

In accordance with Council's Permit Parking Policy if 3 cars are registered to either of these properties then the resident is entitled to 1 Resident Parking Permit.

If less than 3 cars are registered to these properties the resident would not be entitled to any Resident Parking Permits.

How is this calculated:

A maximum of 3 resident parking permits may be issued per residence reduced by 1 for every off-street parking space available at the residence. In this case 2 off-street parking spaces are available. Therefore if 3 cars are registered to this residence the maximum of 3 permits is reduced by 2 off-street parking spaces.

Note: The resident is also be entitled to 1 Visitors Parking Permit.

Example No. 3

The diagram below shows a residence with 3 off-street parking spaces that can accommodate 3 cars.

In accordance with Council's Permit Parking Policy the resident is not entitled to any Resident Parking Permits irrespective of the number of cars registered to this property.

How is this calculated:

A maximum of 3 resident parking permits may be issued per residence reduced by 1 for every off-street parking space available at the residence. In this case 3 off-street parking spaces are available (including 1 stacked parking space) and therefore no permits may be issued.

Note: The resident is still be entitled to 1 Visitors Parking Permit.

Example No. 4

In accordance with Council's Permit Parking Policy if the number of cars registered to a residence is equal to or less than the number of available off-street parking spaces then the resident is not entitled to a Resident Parking Permit.

How is this calculated:

A maximum of three resident parking permits may be issued per residence reduced by one for every off-street parking space available at the residence. In these above cases the number of off-street parking spaces is equal to or greater than the number of cars registered to this address. Therefore no permits can be issued.

Note: The resident is still be entitled to one (1) Visitors Parking Permit
